

Last November, we lost our Lab/Cocker mix female at the age of 15. She passed away peacefully in our arms. Of course we were devastated and decided we could never go through this again. Fast forward 6 weeks later and we realize that we cannot live without a four legged furry child around. So, we began to consider a breed that would fit our lifestyle. Having a home with a pool and a sailboat on the gulf coast made us realize that we had to have a doggie that was a real water lover like our last one was. We were looking for a forever friend that would not exceed 45-50 pounds and medium build. Our vet mentioned a Boykin. My husband visited many web sites to obtain info on Boykins. I was hooked as soon as I looked at photos of their dark brown coat and amber eyes as well as their love of water.

Pictured left is our bouncing baby Boykin has certainly filled a huge hole in our hearts. The joy and laughs she brings to our home again is so welcomed. We have enrolled her in "Puppy School" and she is the star student. She learns quickly and is eager to please. I know that many of you will be unhappy that we will not use her as a hunting dog, but I told her she could hunt for tuna and red snapper!

I enjoy looking at the may photos that your web site has. I especially like to look at the adult females and imagine what our baby girl will look like someday soon.
